On the threshold of Digital Distribution era...

In a world changing fast software industry should be ready for new challenges...

*The new era of content distribution has already come!

How to effectively protect Intellectual Property within new environment?

Fasten your seat belt!

Obviously, one of the most important thing in case of full or partial digital distribution business model is the object of software binding.

Binding – is one of the fundamental features of any copy protection or DRM service.

No binding = no control over illegal software usage.

⚠ While you don't have any physical media to bind to, you should be positive about reliable binding of your software to certain, unique parameter that clearly indicates license originality.

What do you get
